

SOFT MAG

Design by
Frédéric Ruyant

Description

In 2015, Frédéric Ruyant's Soft Mag merges a low table with its natural complement, a magazine rack. For this particular association he plays with various materials : the ash top brings warmth to the steel base, despite the fact that both share the same straight lines and the same black finish. However it is the Divina fabric (choice of 3 colours: anthracite, noir, bleu canard) which serves as the true link, soft though it is, between the base and the top thanks to the warmth and fluidity of the way in which the wool falls in the shape of a suspended file.

Low table/magazine rack with structure and base in black lacquered steel. MDF top finished in black-stained ash veneer. Suspended magazine rack in Divina anthracite, noir or bleu canard.
