Radice Modular System

The Radice Modular System can be strategically positioned within the architectural layout at focal points that enhance product displays.

When used correctly, the Radice System visually enhances total living presentations, creating an appealing backdrop and offering clients a more immersive and engaging product experience.

The most suitable positioning is typically recommended by the design/merchandising team on the architectural layout. However, if you wish to adjust the selection of compositions and their optimal placement independently, it is important to follow these guidelines.

The Radice can be positioned in several ways:

- Near a storefront window to attract customers from outside the store.
- To highlight a bedroom display by incorporating the dedicated "night" module.

- Either behind a room set or in front (when featuring a TV unit) to create an engaging and complete living area presentation

Radice Bookcase Compositions

- The Radice bookcase is a modular product that can be configured in various ways to create countless arrangements.
- With modules of different heights and dimensions, compositions can be adapted to any layout, whether in a store setting or a residential space.
- To simplify ordering and project planning, we have created several "standard" compositions, each available with a unique code.
- However, if alternative compositions are required, you can find some suggestions on these pages.
- All technical drawings include measurements to facilitate installation by technicians, and they also suggest reference heights that have been pre-calculated by HQ to meet all display needs (such as heights for books and decorative items, proportional balance, and the overall appearance of the bookcase).
