Harmony project Natuzzi Italia

The Harmony Project aims to offer a unified working method that ensures chromatic and stylistic harmony, preserving the brand's DNA.

This tool is intended to be more than just a product offering, aiming to harmonize an entire interior design project.

Mirai

In Japanese, the word “mirai” means “future.” The Mirai sofa, the result of a collaboration between Natuzzi Italia and designer Andrea Steidl, combines a structure with a strong personality and a distinctive lightness. Its seemingly divergent lines come together in an elegant optical play that creates a sense of movement. Steidl deconstructed the concept of comfort into individual elements, supported by a wooden structure on which light and soft volumes rest. The result is both visual and physical comfort that looks toward the future, while maintaining and enhancing the brand’s stylistic code, thanks to the synergy with the Natuzzi Design Center, with whom Andrea Steidl developed and refined the project.

Design by Andrea Steidl

Andrea Steidl graduated in Industrial Design from the Polytechnic University of Milan in 2004, with a thesis on “Gratuity.” After moving to Milan, he joined Patricia Urquiola’s studio, where he took on the role of design manager. In 2016, he created his first personal project and later co-founded the studio \ar-o\ with Raquel Pacchini, focusing on product design, communication, strategic consulting, and art direction projects.

Moodboard cold neutral

To ensure harmony in the projects, the Natuzzi Style Center carefully selects materials and coverings, creating a dialogue between them. In this case, Status leather in White has been paired with Delfino fabric in Warm White, along with performance Piazzadispagna fabric in Greige, and decorative cushions in Belpasso fabric in Grey-White Tartan. The harmonization of these coverings with woods and marbles will result in a moodboard that defines the final total look of the project. Each collection model offers multiple moodboards to adapt to various market geographies.
