TECHNICAL INFORMATION

The Trekking rug is made with a hand-tufting technique that is widely used in India.

The craftsman inserts (manually or using a tool) each single hair (wool or polyester) onto a frame without tying it. Once the design has been created, the rug is finished using tools that allow you to create a play of heights in the pile. The back of the rug is finished with a backing that is made with a resistant cotton canvas.

Composition: 70% New Zealand wool, 30% Viscose
